Championship juniors Alpine Ski – Passo San Pellegrino

CURRENT CONDITIONS A High pressure ridge strengthening over central-Northern Europe drives moderate/fresh North-easterly winds to the Alps today. Tomorrow, further strengthening of the High pressure will keep milder temperature aloft. From Monday until Wednesday the further reinforcement of the Atlantic High ridge will bring again settled and sunny weather, newly rather mild everywhere with freezing level around (3100/3400).

Sea surface chart h 12 GMT Sunday 24

Today Sunnier weather with clear or sometime veiled sky, dry air with very good visibility everywhere. Slightly mild climate aloft and moderate winds from Northeast.
