Team's accreditation

- In order to receive the accreditation, all teams (both athletes and staff) must prove negative molecular test (polymerase chain reaction – PCR). The result of the molecular test must be uploaded on the FIS Passport platform. That's compulsory and test can't be older than 72 hours prior to the arrival to Bormio.
- Similarly, it's compulsory to upload on Fis Passport the results of any previous positive molecular test, in order to establish the individual's clinical history and calculate the transition time from positivity to negativity.
- Since the scientific and clinical knowledge of this infection is not well defined yet - in particular for what the immunity of those who previously contracted the infection is concerned - the need to provide the result of a PCR test (within the last 72 hours) is still valid for those who have already contracted the infection.
- In Bormio there is no health facility capable of providing a molecular test. Therefore, each team must show up at the accreditation centre with correct and complete health documentation
- Communicate name, mobile number and e-mail of the team representative and the team doctor to accreditation@fisi.org
- Team members must fill in the FIS health questionnaire. According to the answers provided and if necessary, a rapid antigen test will be made at accreditation.
- Accreditations are issued only after all documents are checked.
- Accreditation is strictly personal and must be worn at all times.

Media accreditation

- In order to obtain the accreditation, all media must upload a negative Covid-19 result on FIS Passport platform (in case you're already part of this FIS platform) or Event Builder platform. Both PCR molecular test and antigenic test are accepted (Dpcm 3/12/2020). The test can't be older than 72 hours prior the entry to the event venue. Failure to do so will result in accreditations not being granted or revoked.
- Tests for media members are available for a fee on December 26 at the Bormio Ski cableway area. In order to book one please send an email at media@fisi.org
- In addition to the upload of your test, please remember to fill in the questionnaire on Event Builder or Fis Passport platforms.
- In order to get the accreditation, please show the confirmation received via email through the Event Builder system once the Covid manager has evaluated and confirmed all data.
- Accreditation is strictly personal and must be worn at all times.
